An astounding yesteryear contemporary home of five bedrooms, will surely impress. Excitingly individual, this beautiful rustic home features three living areas, including a sunken lounge with wood heater, family room with wood heater, formal dining, and a tidy retro kitchen with new electric stove. The elite entertainer will not need to compromise with their own bar and cellar; located on the lower level and readily accessible within the home. The master bedroom is huge and open designed as a loft style. It features its own private deck, walk in robe area and a full ensuite with double shower. A further four bedrooms are located at the end wing of the home. An abundance of natural light and materials throughout, encapture the tranquility and architectural significance of this property. The land is lightly treed, fenced into two
